

Marxist Feminism

is a branch of feminist theory that expands on Marxist theory.

Marxist feminism
highlights
domestic labor and care work and how it is devalued
under capitalism.

The intersection of race , gender and class.

People and Planet
Over Profit

Clara
Zetkin

Rosa
Luxemburg

Alexandra
Kollontai

Marxist

Feminism

Claudia
Jones

“

The ‘biological clock’ that some women claim to hear ticking is also a ‘social clock’ reminding them that whatever else may be going on in their lives, motherhood is their destiny, the road to social acceptance and integration.”

Martha A. Gimenez

Capitalism is inherently oppressive to women. It relies on the unpaid domestic labor of women and girls. It does not generate profit causing the labor of women at home to be undervalued. A woman's experience with oppression is shaped by their class position in a capitalist system.

Deng Yingchao

Intersectional Analysis

“

Black women were equal to their men in the oppression they suffered; they were their men's social equals within the slave community; and they resisted slavery with a passion equal to their men's.

”

Ch 1, Pg 23

